

CHADWICK HERE; UNDER ARREST

Asserts He Is Innocent of Uttering Forged
Note and Declares His Belief That His Wife Did Nothing Wrong.

TREMbles WITH NERVOUSNESS WHEN TOLD OF HIS INDICTMENT

Goes to a Hotel in Hoboken to Await Sheriff's Return—Start for Cleveland This Afternoon.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Dr. Leroy S. Chadwick, who arrived this morning from Hamburg and Dover, on the Hamburg-American liner, Pretoria, was practically, but not technically, placed under arrest by Sheriff Barry, of Cuyahoga county, Ohio, who boarded the vessel with the customs officers.

With Dr. Chadwick was his daughter, Mary J. Chadwick. The sheriff took Dr. Chadwick and his daughter directly to Meyers Hotel, Hoboken, N. J., where he consented to remain until Sheriff Barry gathered his own effects in New York. The sheriff will then take Dr. Chadwick back to Cleveland, leaving at 4:55 o'clock this afternoon over the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Miss Chadwick will be taken care of by relatives in New York for a few days. She will probably go to Jacksonville, Fla., where Dr. Chadwick is said to have a brother.

TREMbles WITH EXCITEMENT.

Dr. Chadwick, w. n told of his mission by the sheriff, became greatly excited and so nervous that his hands beat an audible tattoo automatically on the table at which he was sitting in his stateroom, Nc. 151, on the Georgia. Dr. Chadwick occupied No. 155, across the corridor in the second cabin division of the ship.

He was not there. Repeated calls on the telephone failed to reach him. When the Pretoria docked at Hoboken, N. J., where the extradition papers were of no use Detective Sergeant Bonham, who was sitting on the dock, Sheriff Barry thinks it was a rather poor exhibition on the part of the New York detective bureau.

Without Authority. In other words Sheriff Barry had practically no authority to place Dr. Chadwick under arrest, and for that reason he did not technically do so. Dr. Chadwick, however, consented willingly to Sheriff Barry's arrangement for his immediate return to Cleveland. The doc-

Sheriff explains.

The sheriff was closeted for some twenty minutes with Dr. Chadwick in the mayor's stateroom. He explained to the doctor that everything would be done compatible with the law to make his trip to Cleveland as little unpleasant as possible.

Dr. Chadwick, joined his conference with the sheriff, consented to give an inventory of the second collection. He was plainly so nonplussed at the suddenness of his being held by the sheriff that he displayed almost hysterical behavior. He was ashen as he spoke and quavered involuntarily. His fingers trembled, and frequently he had to grip hard, hand with hand, evidently

By Edward W. Drucker, New York, counsel for Herbert B. Newton, of Boston.

The summons and complaint, answerable in twenty days, was served on the sheriff of New York for $50.00 and $6.00, given to Newton by Mrs. Newton. The sheriff's notes for $50.00 and $6.00 were given to Dr. Chadwick. In order to make doubly sure that the summons served on Dr. Chadwick later for the State of New

Asserts Innocence. He said with tremulous lips: "All I know of the charge against me and Mrs. Chadwick is what I have seen in the newspapers. I knew nothing of the utterance of this forgery. I know	Dramatic Incident. All this time Mary Chadwick had been in her own room, No. 155. All this time, while the sheriff and Dr. Chadwick were again in the latter's room, Mary Chadwick remained in hers.
---	---

A dramatic little incident then occurred. W. G. Fay, who is supposed to be a friend and attorney at Elyria, Ohio, was standing in the corridor, having boarded the vessel soon after the arrival of the Chadwicks. He saw the Chadwicks, and attempted to see Miss Chadwick.

She, however, firmly interfered, and had the girl step into the room with him and her father.

Refused to Talk.	No Interference.
------------------	------------------

"We represent the newspapers," the reporters said.

"I have nothing to say," said the doctor, closing the door.

He then came out and pointing a finger at Mr. Fay said, threateningly: "I don't want you to interfere in this matter, at all."

"I am not interfering," replied Mr.

"Did you know you were under indictment in Ohio?"

"I know nothing about it at all."

Fay. "I want to do nothing but what will help Dr. Chadwick."

"Well. Even in that case, I wish no

He was very nervous and excited. He interference from you, declared the responsible for the desire of Mr. Gom

[illegible]

"When Mr. Taft got back to Washington I sent him a letter describing the conditions in Porto Rico and views as to the employment of Porto Ricans at the canal.

"He suggested that I should state the case to Governor Winthrop, and as old canon on which the proceedings were had the charges brought by five male communicants against the diocese, of whom three shall be presiding members of the church, of whom two shall belong to the diocese accused. Of the fourteen alleged members of the five Huntington members, nine are in the diocese of Pennsylvania.

Spurred by those who have been

he trend of the proceedings will not be a quorum when
(Continued on Third Page.)

Baltimore and Return—$125.
Ania, Fullread, Saturday and ickets good on all trains ex-pressional limited, and good with the

(Continued on Second Page.)

Dr. Chadwick, who told of his mission by the sheriff, became greatly excited and so nervous that his hands beat an audible tattoo automatically on the table at which he was sitting in his stateroom, No. 151, on the Georgia. Dr. Chadwick occupied No. 155, across the corridor in the second cabin division of the ship.

He was not there. Repeated calls on the telephone failed to reach him. When the Pretoria docked at Hoboken, N. J., where the extradition papers were of no use Detective Sergeant Bonham was sitting on the dock. Sheriff Barry thinks it was a rather poor exhibition on the part of the New York detective bureau.

Without Authority. In other words Sheriff Barry had practically no authority to place Dr. Chadwick under arrest, and for that reason he did not technically do so. Dr. Chadwick, however, consented willingly to Sheriff Barry's arrangement for his immediate return to Cleveland. The doc-

Sheriff explains.

The sheriff was closeted for some twenty minutes with Dr. Chadwick in the mayor's stateroom. He explained to the doctor that everything would be done compatible with the law to make his trip to Cleveland as little unpleasant as possible.

Dr. Chadwick, joined his conference with the sheriff, consented to give an inventory of the second collection. He was plainly so nonplussed at the suddenness of his being held by the sheriff that he displayed almost hysterical behavior. He was ashen and shook as he spoke and quavered involuntarily. His fingers trembled, and frequently he had to grip hard, hand with hand, evidently

Asserts Innocence. He said with tremulous lips: "All I know of the charge against me and Mrs. Chadwick is what I have seen in the newspapers. I knew nothing of the utterance of this forgery. I know	Dramatic Incident. All this time Mary Chadwick had been in her own room, No. 155. All this time, while the sheriff and Dr. Chadwick were again in the latter's room, Mary Chadwick remained in hers.
---	---

A dramatic little incident then occurred. W. G. Fay, who is supposed to be a friend and attorney at Elyria, Ohio, was standing in the corridor, having boarded the vessel soon after the arrival of the Chadwicks. He saw the Chadwicks, and attempted to see Miss Chadwick.

She, however, firmly interfered, and had the girl step into the room with him and her father.

Refused to Talk.

"We represent the newspapers," the reporters said.

"I have nothing to say," said the doctor, closing the door.

No Interference.

He then came out and pointing a finger at Mr. Fay said, threateningly: "I don't want you to interfere in this matter, at all."

"I am not interfering," replied Mr.

"Did you know you were under indictment in Ohio?"

"I know nothing about it at all."

He was very nervous and excited. He shut himself up in his stateroom and refused to answer all questions.

Fay. "I want to do nothing but what will help Dr. Chadwick."

"Well. Even in that case, I wish no interference from you," declared the sheriff.

"I do not know that I am interfering. I simply want to talk with Miss Chad-

An Old Traveler.
Dr. Chadwick is an old traveler on the Hamburg-American line and was known to the stewards and passengers, and while he did not seclude himself he did not talk of his affairs on the voyage.

He seemed to be nervous and excitable throughout the trip.

He embarked at Dover and was accompanied by his daughter.

Was Homeward Bound.

Mr. Fay did not have any talk with Dr. Chadwick. The sheriff believed that Mr. Fay is here for personal reasons of his own. In fact, that he wishes to get

Then with a gas he said:
"Now I hardly know what to believe. I know that I had no intention of evading whatever responsibility I may have. I state positively that I was on my way to Cleveland when Sheriff Barry told me of the indictment."

Dr. Chadwick then with nervous fingers drew a marked New York Central Railroad time table from his pocket to prove his words. Sheriff Barry here interrupted to say:

"I have not placed Dr. Chadwick un-

The explanation of Sheriff Barry's rather curious statement is that as a matter of fact, due to either the negligence or indifference of the New York State Police, they had not been notified as to the arrest, and were, therefore, docked as feasible, and went directly to Meyers Hotel.

Sheriff Barry then returned to the Astor House, New York, got his baggage together and once more joined the Chadwicks in Hoboken. He bought tickets and berths for the 4:55 train on the Pennsylvania Railroad for Cleveland.

According to the laws of New York extradition papers issued by the State are turned over to the county authorities for service.

This morning on being notified of the arrival of the Proctora Sheriff Barry called up the detective bureau at police headquarters to have Detective Sergeant Maurice Ronnell, who had the extradition tion papers in his custody, at the revenue cutter dock at the Battery at 7:30 o'clock.